

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Election, Tuesday, November 4, 1884.

FOR PRESIDENT,
JAMES G. BLAINE,
OF MAINE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
JOHN A. LOGAN,
OF ILLINOIS.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.
At Large—J. L. HENRY.
First District—J. W. OSTERHOLM.
Second District—D. C. VAN DUSEN.
Third District—JOSEPH HANSEN.
Fourth District—JOHN KUEHN.
Fifth District—W. W. ABRAHAM.
Sixth District—B. T. MOORE.
Seventh District—W. M. FOSTER.
Eighth District—CARLTON ANDERSON.
Ninth District—E. L. BROWN.

COME AND SEE US.
The Republican State Central Committee has opened convenient and commodious headquarters on Wisconsin street, near the postoffice, in Milwaukee. All Republicans, and especially those of our own state, are cordially invited to call when in the city. All republican papers published in the country will be sent on file. Come and see us. H. A. TAYLOR, Chairman. C. FAYNE, Sec.

Butler's plan will be to support Ben Butler.

A great man can never be made out of Cleveland. "There is a perfect absence of raw material."

The Independents have met to kick the republicans and rejoice. After the election they will need to kick themselves and mourn.

The New York Herald thinks Cleveland will certainly be elected. Not much. The gift of prophecy has never yet been given the democratic party.

The man employed to write Cleveland's letter of acceptance, will have a hard time of it. Blaine's letter will be in the way.

The reason why Cleveland is a weak candidate is that his friends have not been able to give one good reason why he should be elected president.

The New York World thinks there should be a change because the republican party has been in power too long. That is a question for the people to decide.

Pack, which is now engaged in a war against Blaine, said of him, December 21, 1881: "It braves over made a man president of the United States, braves will make Mr. Blaine president." You were right in 1881, Mr. Pack, and Braine of the honest people will elect Mr. Blaine this year.

BEATING ON LABOR.

The institutions of the United States rest upon the intelligence and virtue of all the people. Suffrage is made universal as a just weapon of self protection to every citizen. It is not the interest of the republic that any economic system should be adopted which involves the reduction of wages to the hard standard prevailing elsewhere. The republican party aims to elevate and dignify labor—not to degrade it.—James G. Blaine.

This is another golden brick from Mr. Blaine's letter. It states the exact position of the republican party toward labor. By the way, this is another maxim from Blaine that gives the democrats uneasiness.

If one may judge from the tone of the democratic press, the greatest triumph the democrats ever won was in changing the word "only" in their platform to that of "exclusively." The party is almost tickled to death over the change.

One of the keenest perception with extraordinary visionary powers will be employed by the democrats to find a good point in Cleveland's letter of acceptance. There will be a good deal of uncertainty connected with such an investigation.

Inasmuch as Mr. Curtis and Mr. Kent are shoulder to shoulder in this campaign, won't the courteous please illustrate on a double-page the sentiment of Mr. Curtis uttered in the republican national convention?—"The democratic party is very hungry—and you may well believe, very thirsty, and is attempting to smother back to power as a conspiracy for plunder and spoils."

It is impossible to point to a single monopoly in the United States that has been created or fostered by the industrial system which is upheld by the republican party.—James G. Blaine.

There is a mighty sermon in those three lines from Blaine's magnificent letter of acceptance. Its truth staggers the democracy, and makes them kick against Blaine, the letter, and the party.

The nomination of Hendricks brings strongly to mind the epiphany of 1870, when Tilden, through his nephew and secretary, W. T. Polton, received the nomination from Oregon.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 28, 1876.—To W. T. Polton, Esq., New York City:—New York City:—Certificate will be issued to one democrat. Most purchase a republican edition to recognize and act with democrats and secure the vote and prevent trouble. Deposit $1000 in my credit with Xanthopoulos, Wall Street, New York.

Mr. Tilden deposited the money, but the republican editor would not sell out and thereby Tilden lost the presidency because his money could not buy it.

Among the rules to be strictly observed during a cholera epidemic the following are the most important:

Observe strict cleanliness in your person and clothing.

Be regular in your habits of life, meats, exercise and sleep.

Dress comfortably for the season and avoid the night air as much as possible.

Avoid the use of alcoholic drink.

Live temperately; avoid all excesses in

FOR PROHIBITION.

First Day's Work of the National Prohibition Convention.

Four Hundred and Thirty-six Delegates Attend the Gathering.

Governor St. John Declines to Be a Candidate—Permanent Organization—Anti-Slavery Sat Down Upon—Some Lively Business.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 24.—The national convention of the Prohibition and Home Protection party was called to order in Lafayette hall, which had been tastefully decorated for the meeting, at 11 a. m. Wednesday. The hall was packed to overflowing. The Rev. Dr. Miner of Boston, made the opening prayer, and Mr. Nelson, of Chicago, read the call for the convention. C. L. Ross, of Pittsburgh, then made the address of welcome, and was responded to by G. L. H. Stewart, of New York, who was warmly received with shouts of applause. Mr. Stewart referred to the refusal of the Prohibition party to adopt a prohibition resolution, and the addresser called "shame" to the question of the age, and one that was sure to be a winning issue.

The temporary organization was then made consisting of William Daniels of Maryland, as chairman, and Mrs. Woodcock of Ohio, as secretary. Mr. Daniels said that neither of the great parties had dared to touch the great question of prohibition for the honor of the people, and for that reason he prophesied their early disintegration, and that the prohibition party, out of the best element of the north and south.

"Maryland, My Maryland" was then sung by a lady, and the committee on credentials was appointed. The convention then took recess until 3 p. m.

After the tea a telegram was received from Governor St. John, positively declining the presidential nomination, but an Illinois delegate declared he would be nominated, and that in such a case he would accept.

The convention resumed at 3 p. m. Ten minutes were occupied in singing the "Glory Hallelujah" and five more in prayer by Rev. Dr. Hayes, of Illinois. A considerable time was then consumed over a motion picture showing the progress of the prohibition movement, and the confusion of the morning session, the rules of Quaker's parliamentary manual should be adopted. This matter had scarcely been gotten out of the way when the convention adjourned until 10 o'clock.

On the call of the following named gentlemen and ladies were appointed by their respective delegations to the national committee: Alabama, J. H. Hunt; California, Mrs. Emory Heston; Colorado, J. H. Hunt; Connecticut, J. H. Hunt; Delaware, J. H. Hunt; Florida, J. H. Hunt; Georgia, J. H. Hunt; Idaho, J. H. Hunt; Illinois, J. H. Hunt; Indiana, J. H. Hunt; Iowa, J. H. Hunt; Kansas, J. H. Hunt; Kentucky, J. H. Hunt; Louisiana, J. H. Hunt; Maine, J. H. Hunt; Maryland, J. H. Hunt; Massachusetts, J. H. Hunt; Michigan, J. H. Hunt; Minnesota, J. H. Hunt; Missouri, J. H. Hunt; Montana, J. H. Hunt; Nebraska, J. H. Hunt; Nevada, J. H. Hunt; New Hampshire, J. H. Hunt; New Jersey, J. H. Hunt; New Mexico, J. H. Hunt; New York, J. H. Hunt; North Carolina, J. H. Hunt; North Dakota, J. H. Hunt; Ohio, J. H. Hunt; Oklahoma, J. H. Hunt; Oregon, J. H. Hunt; Pennsylvania, J. H. Hunt; Rhode Island, J. H. Hunt; South Carolina, J. H. Hunt; South Dakota, J. H. Hunt; Tennessee, J. H. Hunt; Texas, J. H. Hunt; Utah, J. H. Hunt; Vermont, J. H. Hunt; Virginia, J. H. Hunt; Washington, J. H. Hunt; West Virginia, J. H. Hunt; Wisconsin, J. H. Hunt; Wyoming, J. H. Hunt.

Abraham Lincoln had once less of a record than Governor Cleveland has when he was taken up for the presidency?—Boston Herald.

"He has had no experience in national affairs," is one of the stock arguments against Governor Cleveland. Well, how much experience did Abraham Lincoln have in national affairs before he was elected?—New York Post.

Lincoln entered the presidency without any experience whatever in public life. He had not been so much as governor of Illinois, nor sheriff of Sangamon county, nor even mayor of Springfield. He was no party leader; was neither a "brilliant" nor a "magnificent" politician; never displayed any of the shining armor of audacious misrepresentation and falsehood in debate that shine so brightly in "the plumed knight."—Chicago Times.

These metropolitan papers do not seem to know the life of Lincoln before his election to the presidency. He had served several terms in the legislature. Cleveland has not done that. He had served in congress, and Cleveland has never been there. Lincoln had not done Douglas in the ever memorable campaign in Illinois, in 1858, which resulted in the most powerful series of political debates ever witnessed on this continent. Think of Stephen G. Cleveland measuring swords with Stephen A. Douglas! Lincoln had stumped the west for Henry Clay as early as 1844. Think of Cleveland discussing national topics in public speeches! Lincoln had delivered his Cooper Institute speech—the key note in that never-to-be-forgotten campaign of 1860—a speech not only remarkable for its eloquence, but which became famous on both sides of the sea for its matchless discussion of the principles between the two parties. Think of Cleveland, of Buffalo, astonishing the world with a masterpiece of political oratory! Every speech that Lincoln made in 1858, and '60 before his nomination, showed that he could rank with the foremost statesmen of his day. Think of Cleveland measuring brains and statesmanship with Blaine, Bayard, Logan, Thurman, Edmunds or Carlisle!

Lincoln was the greatest American that ever came from the log huts of the common people. Think of Cleveland ever being called grand or great! Lincoln had deep seated convictions, and the highest principles. Cleveland's neighbors never gave him credit for either. Lincoln was truly great and gained the admiration of his countrymen before he became president. Cleveland is an accidental man, and never can be great in mind or purpose, no matter to what office he may be elected.

Origin of Ammonia. Ammonia is obtained in large quantities by the putrefaction of the urine of animals.—Hippocratic Medicine.

Every housekeeper can test baking powders containing the disgusting, and even dangerous, adulterant, by placing a can of "Royal" or "Arrow" brand" top down on a hot stove until, then remove the cover and smell.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder does not contain Ammonia, Alum, Lard, Potash, Bozo Phosphates. Prove it by the above test. It is prepared by a Physician and Chemist with special regard to cleanliness and healthfulness.

"This is to certify that I have examined, analyzed and tested Dr. Price's Specialized Baking Powder. It contains Orange, Lemon, Celery, etc., and find the same strong, fine, made of good material, and therefore gladly commend them for family use."

PHOP. M. DELAFONTAINE, Analytical Chemist, Chicago

VETERANS IN LINE.

Great Day for the Boys in Blue at Minneapolis.

Thousands of Old Soldiers March to the Music of the Union.

And Tens of Thousands Line the Way and Rend the Air with Acclamations—Scenes and Incidents.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24.—Wednesday was the day of the grand equipment. Fully 50,000 people thronged the streets of Minneapolis to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 8 o'clock the veterans left Camp Grant and took trains for Minneapolis, where the parade was to be held. Four companies of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry and Battery F of the Fourth artillery, from Fort Snelling, were in the line of march. The first division formed on Tenth street, with its right flank on North street. The division was led by Grand Marshal Gilman, with Deputies Wright, Bixby and Pratt. Next came a squad of mounted policemen and two battalions of foot police, followed by Division Commanders Benton and Ardus and their staffs. The division was followed by the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, followed by companies B, C, P and I of the Twenty-fifth infantry, with 150 men in line, under command of Col. H. S. Rogers. Battery F of the Fourth artillery, with 100 men, followed, commanded by Maj. Smith. Next came the Minnesota band, followed by the five companies of the Second regiment under command of Col. Benton. After the march of the division, the march of the Grand Army of the Republic began. The march was led by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

THURSDAY, JULY 24.

Notice to Subscribers.

Subscribers to THE GAZETTE who do not receive their paper regularly, will confer a favor by reporting omissions promptly at the Gazette counting room.

LOCAL MATTERS.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Bring your baby to Tice, he can take their photographs in one second.

No better photograph made in the city than Tice is making. See them.

Hair, tooth and nail brushes, at Eldredge's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Those who desire pictures of their children will do well to call on Glass, 21 and 23 Main street. Price of cabinet reduced to five dollars per dozen.

All styles ladies and children's shade hats now in stock at the New York Saving store.

Toilet soaps at Eldredge's.

A good Jersey for 75c; braided, extra fine $3.00. Children's Jerseys, all sizes from $1.00 up. N. Y. SAVING STORE.

The beautiful suburban home of A. M. Pratt, bordering on the river, including 17 acres of land, is offered for sale by O. E. Bowles.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Bring your babies to Tice, he can take their photographs in one second.

WANTED—A girl to do general housework. Apply at Gazette office.

Try "Miller's asthma remedy" at Eldredge's.

FOR SALE CHEAP—First class phonograph. R. VALENTINE.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

A few more choice lots of tobacco land adjoining Blind Institute, can be secured if applied for early. O. E. BOWLES.

"Turner's Wonder," at Eldredge's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

The boss line of hosiery and underwear at Foot & Wilcox's.

Full line of silk and lace mitts in new colors, 50c up.

N. Y. SAVING STORE.

$1.150 will buy a desirable home on South Main street. Particulars by U. E. Bowles.

Just received, a heavy shipment of children's ready made dresses, 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c and $1.00—impossible to make them up for the same money.

N. Y. SAVING STORE.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Four sizes crockable cooking crocks, at Wilcox's; metal water coolers with faucet, $1.00; hammocks, lap boards, carpet sweeper, fruit jars, Jewett's refrigerator, ice cream freezers.

If you want a lounge or a baby carriage, call at Sanborn & O'Neill's second hand store.

$5000 to loan, in sums to suit. Apply to O. E. Bowles.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

The greatest variety of buggies and lumber wagons to be found in this city at S. L. James, and can be found for the least money.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Notice.

I will buy no more wool until the market becomes settled.

M. H. SOVEREIGN.

Glass, the Main street photographer will, for the next sixty days, make cabinets for five dollars per dozen. A word to the wise, etc.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

J. G. Saxe represents the Fire and Chicago Insurance Company that has the greatest out value of any company doing business in America; has money to loan; houses to rent, and real estate for sale.

Nicest line of straw goods in the city at Foot & Wilcox's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Summer hats at greatly reduced prices at J. L. Ford's, West Milwaukee street.

Edwards Alleviate and Tonic Bitters are sold at Palmer & Stevens' drugstore.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Go to Foot & Wilcox's for nobly neck wear.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

All kinds of harnesses cheap at Win Sadders.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

For SALE—Fourteen acres of choice tobacco land in Kingsbury county, Dakota, located 1 1/2 miles south of the town of Iroquois on the C. & N. W. R. R.

WHEAT & STEVENS.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

For SALE—Fourteen acres of choice tobacco land in Kingsbury county, Dakota, located 1 1/2 miles south of the town of Iroquois on the C. & N. W. R. R.

WHEAT & STEVENS.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

For SALE—Fourteen acres of choice tobacco land in Kingsbury county, Dakota, located 1 1/2 miles south of the town of Iroquois on the C. & N. W. R. R.

WHEAT & STEVENS.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

For SALE—Fourteen acres of choice tobacco land in Kingsbury county, Dakota, located 1 1/2 miles south of the town of Iroquois on the C. & N. W. R. R.

WHEAT & STEVENS.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

For SALE—Fourteen acres of choice tobacco land in Kingsbury county, Dakota, located 1 1/2 miles south of the town of Iroquois on the C. & N. W. R. R.

WHEAT & STEVENS.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Briefs.

—The street sprinklers have had a couple of days rest.

—The school commissioners held an adjourned meeting, this evening.

—Our military companies will "mark time," in their respective armories this evening.

—Janesville Commandery No. 2 Knights Templars, occupy Masonic hall this evening.

—The next show so far as known, will be the Madison minstrel troupe, in Myers Opera house, August 3th.

—Ald. S. C. Burnham is having a concrete sidewalk put down in front of his residence, on North Bluff street, Second ward.

—A heavy rain storm passed east of the city this morning. We hear that the heaviest portion of the storm visited Johnston and vicinity.

—Mr. Guy Sherman today received a new bicycle—of the Yale pattern, 35-inch wheel. Members of the bicycle club say it is the "boss" wheel in the city.

—Mr. F. C. Sullivan has a first class billiard table for sale. The table is in splendid condition. Apply at Mr. Sullivan's saloon, West Milwaukee street.

—The members of the A. O. U. W. contemplate indulging in a picnic at Pope's Springs, and will hold a special meeting this evening to arrange details.

—Luisa O. Romko and John Hess are on trial in the municipal court this afternoon, on charge of stealing beer on February 9th last, from John and A. V. Bauman.

—Only three arrests were made by the police force yesterday. One drunk, one "crook" on suspicion, and one "disorderly." Very good for circus day with such a large crowd of people.

—Remember the picnic of the First M. E. Sunday school at Pope's Springs to-morrow. The public is invited. The steamer Enterprise will make several trips and a good time is anticipated.

—Palsey Griffin, who has been indulging in a protracted spree for the past three weeks, was considerably surprised this morning to hear Judge Patten say, "thirty days." It will take at least that long for Palsey to get thoroughly sober.

—Mr. John Kenyon has purchased three lots of Mr. Burpee on Wall street, between Marion and Academy, upon which he intends to build a first class hotel. We understand work will be commenced on the hotel at once, and completed this season.

—Fred Hanchett, fifteen-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hanchett, on Monday afternoon jumped astride of his bicycle and rolled himself into White-water in three and a half hours. Twenty miles treading over the average country road is pretty good for a boy of that age, and we guess it would tire some of the older ones.

—Sells Brothers' circus drew another large audience last night, but not quite as large as in the afternoon. The show of animals was all and more than advertised, and the ring performance, with one or two exceptions, was as good, if not better than any previous circus exhibition in Janesville. The people were all well pleased with the entertainment, and that is all that is required. We do not hear any one grumbling or complaining that it was a poor show.

—A one horse runaway on Franklin street a few minutes before two o'clock this afternoon drew quite a crowd to the corner exchange. The horse belonged to Mr. Chaney Stevens, who had hit it to a dog-cart at the Central house; the animal being without a bridle. The result was the horse got away, and man and good speed up the street, and upon reaching Milwaukee street it made a circuit at Stearns & Baker's corner, going to the lower part of the square, thence around the walk in front of the Singer sewing machine company's office, where it fell, and was caught by a stranger, who held fast to the animal and avoided any further danger.

—Mr. O. F. Bowles, formerly of this place, and now of Doli Rapids, Dakota, writes to his brother, Mr. C. E. Bowles, as follows under the date of July 23rd: "It is Sunday to-day to all appearances, yesterday we were visited with a terrible tornado and hail storm from 6 to 10 miles wide, we were in the center of it, every thing was ruined. I have not an acre of crops left. Our buildings are all right, most barns and a good many houses are blown down. One of our neighbors' wives, Mrs. Hale, was killed, and the girl seriously hurt. It looks pretty blue for all of us though. I have a little wheat left, crops are all beat off from the straw and beat into the ground. My 100 acres yesterday morning looked two to-day they are not worth a dollar, will write more soon."

—Mr. Wm. H. M. Klecka, of Saginaw, Michigan, and Miss Emily Schaller, were married at 7:30 o'clock last evening, in the German Lutheran church, Rev. John Schlorf officiating. Miss Nellie Knuth, of Jefferson, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Wm. Schuller, brother of the bride, acted as groomsmen. At the conclusion of the happy ceremony in the church the newly married couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schaller, Linn street, fifth ward, where the wedding reception took place. Some forty or fifty guests were present, and the evening was spent in a joyous manner. The bride was the recipient of numerous presents from her friends, and received the hearty congratulations of all. Mr. and Mrs. Klecka will leave on Monday for Addison, Illinois, and in a few days thereafter will proceed to their home in Saginaw. The groom will be remembered as formerly a teacher in the German school of this city, being transferred to Saginaw last spring. He was formerly of Baltimore.

Seven years of continuous suffering had rendered Mr. Wm. S. Fleming withered and helpless, but Athiophora came to the rescue. He had tried "Rheumagen" and for four months I was confined to the house, five weeks of which time I was helpless. Athiophora was recommended to me by Rev. S. W. Davis, and the best of what might be a longer and more painful life, I am entirely well and about my business after using two bottles."

Baxter's Mandrake Bitters are purely a vegetable compound and are perfectly safe for the most delicate use. Price 25 cents a bottle. Sold by Stearns & Baker.

A Worthless and Dangerous Bridge.

We will not find fault with, nor condemn our common council for the wise course pursued in managing our city finances, avoiding extravagant expenditures and lessening the burdens of taxation. But there are times when such a course or policy may be considered very unwise, and liable at any moment to plunge the city into an incalculable indebtedness. We allude now to the rotten and unsafe condition of Milwaukee street bridge. This bridge is located in the business center of the city, where pretty much all the travel and teaming that crosses the river, is carried on. The city authorities were notified of the unsafe condition of the bridge over a year ago, and on the Fourth of July last year, the street commissioner (Mr. J. A. Blount) blockaded a portion of the east end, preventing pedestrians from crossing, and preventing the passage of teams and heavy loads. The bridge is generally admitted to be the strongest opposition ever presented to the Western Union. Wires have been strung from Chicago to Madison, via Milwaukee, and men are now engaged in stringing them from Minneapolis south to this point. The poles are not the entire distance. Milwaukeeans expect the new office to be opened in that city early in August, and it is probable that use will be opened in Madison at about the same time, though nothing definite can be ascertained with regard to this. The rates of the new company will be similar to those now charged by the postal company—twenty-five cents for twenty words from Chicago to New York, with corresponding rates between all other points.

Farmers notice Mr. Macdonald's coal advertisement this week.

The Williston farm of 160 acres, with good improvements, 3 1/2 miles northwest of Janesville, can be bought very cheap. Apply to O. E. Bowles.

If your hair is getting thin, the application of Hall's Vegetable Sulfur Hair Restorer will promote a thick, new growth.

Persons.

—Mrs. James Harris went to Geneva Lake this morning.

—Mrs. Fomer Kimball joined the Lake Geneva campers to-day.

—Mrs. Cyrus Miner went to Chicago this morning on a visit with friends.

—Mrs. David Slightman, of Madison, and Mrs. C. W. Pierce, of Wisconsin, are visiting friends in the city.

—W. H. Ashcraft and wife returned to their Lake Geneva camp this morning.

—Miss Ada Johnson, of Stoughton, is the guest of Miss Mary Evenson, second ward.

—Mr. S. Hayner and wife went to Geneva Lake this morning to join the campers.

—Miss Leue E. Meyers, of London, Ontario, is in the city, the guest of Miss Della Wadsworth, Jackson street, first ward.

—Mr. George W. Kimball, wife and grand-son, of St. Louis, are in the city visiting relatives and friends. They remain a week or ten days.

—Mrs. Frank C. Cook started for Clearmont, New Hampshire, this morning, whither she has been called by the illness of her sister, Mrs. George Judkins.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Conrad went into camp at Geneva Lake to-day. They were accompanied by Mrs. Conrad's mother and a couple of lady friends from Illinois.

—Mr. Joe Cragg, of Whitesboro, was in the city yesterday to see the great 4-ring circus and 50-page menagerie. He was warmly greeted by his army of Janesville friends.

—Mrs. James P. Goid, of Oshkosh, and her children, Jamie, Emma, Harry and little Kitty, who have been visiting Miss M. A. Gould, of this city, returned to their home at Oshkosh to-day.

—Mr. C. G. Stocking, the popular proprietor of the Gazette establishment next door to the tourist office, returned home last evening from a two-weeks visit with relatives and friends in Ohio.

—Mrs. Charles Ralph, of Mooreheadville, Pennsylvania, and her daughter, Mrs. Alexander, of New York city, are the guests of Mrs. Cronkrite and Mrs. P. A. Groesbeck, of the Second ward.

—Mrs. Ralph is the twin sister of Mrs. Cronkrite, and this is their first meeting in forty years. They will remain some weeks in the west visiting among friends and relatives.

—Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Norton, of Chicago, father and mother of Mrs. E. D. Tallman, Mrs. C. D. Cory and daughter of St. Johns, New Brunswick, Mrs. E. D. Ewer and daughter, of Milwaukee, and Mrs. James C. Stargis, of Atlanta, Georgia, are in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Tallman, and will remain a week or more. Mrs. Cory and Mrs. Ewer are sisters of Mrs. Tallman's, and Mrs. James C. Stargis is a cousin.

—Among those who will attend the Monona Lake Assembly, at Madison, which commences next week, are the following parties from this city—Mr. J. A. Cunningham and family, Mrs. S. C. Little, Mr. W. G. Wheelock and family, Mr. Albert J. Glass and family, Mr. J. S. Draper and family, Misses Patterson, Rev. Dr. M. G. Dodge and wife, Hon. James Sutherland, Mr. J. G. Saxe and wife, Misses Gertie and Carrie Zeigler, Mrs. J. H. Kinney, Miss Lizzie Richardson, Miss Gustaf Macdon, Miss Minnie Palmer, Miss Della Calkins, Mr. Miller Calkins, Sam'l Gowdy, and Malcolm G. Jeffries.

Do It To-Day.

Cure that horrible odor with Benson's Porous Plasters. They will help you at once. Don't wait. 25c.

Nothing equals Allen's Bilious Physic in quickly relieving constiveness, headache, heartburn and all other bilious troubles; 25 cents, large bottle. —At drug stores.

Notice.

On and after Tuesday, July 22d, my stage will leave Sharon every morning on the arrival of the Janesville accommodation, for Porter's Park, Geneva Lake and return to Sharon in the evening in time to connect with the train north. Janesville parties will find this the most convenient route to the lake.

Pat Gibbons.

Sharon, Wis.

For furniture repairing and upholstering, mattress repacking and renovating call at L. H. Olmsted, Main street, near Court street.

New assortment of combs, tooth brushes, toilet soaps and face powders, at Palmer & Stevens' drugstore.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

On and after Tuesday, July 22d, my stage will leave Sharon every morning on the arrival of the Janesville accommodation, for Porter's Park, Geneva Lake and return to Sharon in the evening in time to connect with the train north. Janesville parties will find this the most convenient route to the lake.

Pat Gibbons.

Sharon, Wis.

For furniture repairing and upholstering, mattress repacking and renovating call at L. H. Olmsted, Main street, near Court street.

New assortment of combs, tooth brushes, toilet soaps and face powders, at Palmer & Stevens' drugstore.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

On and after Tuesday, July 22d, my stage will leave Sharon every morning on the arrival of the Janesville accommodation, for Porter's Park, Geneva Lake and return to Sharon in the evening in time to connect with the train north. Janesville parties will find this the most convenient route to the lake.

Pat Gibbons.

Sharon, Wis.

For furniture repairing and upholstering, mattress repacking and renovating call at L. H. Olmsted, Main street, near Court street.

New assortment of combs, tooth brushes, toilet soaps and face powders, at Palmer & Stevens' drugstore.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

On and after Tuesday, July 22d, my stage will leave Sharon every morning on the arrival of the Janesville accommodation, for Porter's Park, Geneva Lake and return to Sharon in the evening in time to connect with the train north. Janesville parties will find this the most convenient route to the lake.

Pat Gibbons.

Sharon, Wis.

For furniture repairing and upholstering, mattress repacking and renovating call at L. H. Olmsted, Main street, near Court street.

New assortment of combs, tooth brushes, toilet soaps and face powders, at Palmer & Stevens' drugstore.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

On and after Tuesday, July 22d, my stage will leave Sharon every morning on the arrival of the Janesville accommodation, for Porter's Park, Geneva Lake and return to Sharon in the evening in time to connect with the train north. Janesville parties will find this the most convenient route to the lake.

Pat Gibbons.

Sharon, Wis.

For furniture repairing and upholstering, mattress repacking and renovating call at L. H. Olmsted, Main street, near Court street.

New assortment of combs, tooth brushes, toilet soaps and face powders, at Palmer & Stevens' drugstore.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

NOT-IN-THE BILLS.

A Tornado Adds an Act of Horror to a Circus Performance.

Horrible's Tent blown Down on the Heads of the Spectators—Many Persons Severely Injured—Frightful Panic.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 24.—About 1,000 people, seated under a canvas tent, last night, Wednesday afternoon, when about 4 o'clock, without a moment's warning, a hurricane struck the tent and blew them all over. This was followed by a furious and violent lightning storm, which continued until 11 o'clock. The greatest excitement followed, but ready hands went to work with a will to rescue those who were held under the debris. About forty persons, including many women and children, were found to be injured. The most serious cases are: F. M. Salisbury, of Cortland, head badly cut; Cornelius Brown, of Madison, badly injured about the chest, and a skin broken; Rev. George Adams and daughter, both injured about the head; Zula Smith, an English girl, seriously injured about the head; Miss M. E. Hickey, head cut and hand injured; L. C. Schultz, of Cortland, cut on the temple and chest—badly hurt; Eddie Wood, of Honey, leg broken and scalp injured; George Hickey, seriously injured internally; Milton Vawter, of East Free-town, scalp torn partly off; Asa Gales, of Truxton, injured about the head. A lady, three children and two women were badly hurt and in a dangerous state.

Mr. Hutchinson, one of the partners of the firm, has ordered everything possible to be done for the sufferers, and has had them conveyed to hotels and private houses and attended by physicians. As latest accounts all the injured are said to be doing well.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

The tent was placed in a narrow valley between two small hills, and the wind rushing into this small place created a whirlwind. The structure the large performing tent from the west, near the dressing tent. Assistant Manager Hyatt, seeing the storm coming, had the four poles lowered, thinking this would obviate any difficulty that might arise. The hypocaust was just coming ready for the circus tents. In the twinkling of an eye the guy-ropes had been torn away from the stakes, and the broadside of the tent was in the air, ropes and chains were flying, quarter poles were swinging in the air and the canvas was torn in shreds. In the midst of all this confusion the audience was thrown into a frightful panic. The people sprang to their feet and rushed anywhere they could. Most of them were hurled over the sides of the tent, and the tent animals ran and plunged, trampling upon the people, wounding many seriously, though none fatally. The elephants which had just been performing, and had been backed up to the ring, trampled and badly injured. It required the utmost efforts of the trainers to keep them in subjection and from the crowds of flying people. To add to the confusion the rain began to fall in torrents. Women who had been seated in the front rows, were hurled into the air, and many were injured. From underneath the tent protruded came the screams of the injured. The lions and other animals added to the general din and confusion by their cries. The Cortland fire department called out and hastened to the scene. Out of 5,000 people who attended no one was killed, though it is feared that several will die. Seventy-five in all were injured, of whom less than twenty-five were seriously hurt. None of the circus animals were injured. None of the circus attendants were hurt. Out of 5,000 people who attended no one was killed, though it is feared that several will die. Seventy-five in all were injured, of whom less than twenty-five were seriously hurt. None of the circus animals were injured. None of the circus attendants were hurt.

The circus tent was blown down on the heads of the spectators, many persons severely injured, and a frightful panic.

The circus tent was blown down on the heads of the spectators, many persons severely injured, and a frightful panic.

The circus tent was blown down on the heads of the spectators, many persons severely injured, and a frightful panic.

The circus tent was blown down on the heads of the spectators, many persons severely injured, and a frightful panic.

The circus tent was blown down on the heads of the spectators, many persons severely injured, and a frightful panic.

The circus tent was blown down on the heads of the spectators, many persons severely injured, and a frightful panic.

The circus tent was blown down on the heads of the spectators, many persons severely injured, and a frightful panic.

The circus tent was blown down on the heads of the spectators, many persons severely injured, and a frightful panic.

The circus tent was blown down on the